SimplyServed is a Point of Sale (POS) application that was designed in order to offer users a specialized tool for managing and tackling all the aspects that come with such endeavors, through a series of purpose-fit tools and features, which encompass a broad range of commonly required tasks and processes. SimplyServed Features: Connect the calls, customers, and orders, through its tabbed layout, which manages to disperse the entirety of its information through a series of sequential tabs, one for each main feature. For instance, one will be able to browse calls, customers, orders, as well as print-related aspects using the said tabs. Moreover, aside from call-related information, users will also be able to preview and analyze address data, which is linked to the inherent customer database. Working with postcodes will enable the identification of the attached contacts, as well as their other corresponding aspects. Sky sports news breaking - London Newly crowned Olympic medallist Gabrielle Douglas steps up as the reigning world champion as she prepares for an unprecedented challenge. She will represent the US in the upcoming world championships in Berlin. Douglas, of Auburn, Washington, was a surprise omission from the London Olympics despite an all-round performance to reach the final of the women's double at the Games. In fact, as she has also won the world championships over the past two seasons Douglas has set an astonishing Olympic and world record. "I never imagined being world champion, especially this soon," she said. "I'm very excited, I have been enjoying it very much." Douglas won a gold medal in the 60kg category at the London Olympics, but she will be aiming to defend her title as the reigning world champion at the world championships. Douglas will be competing in the 49kg category and she is making history. She is the first black American to win a gold medal at the Olympic or world championships, and only second in the history of weightlifting after the great Shirley Cloyce at the 1972 Munich Olympics. The Olympic gold medallist will also be aiming to add a gold medal to her collection as she fights in the WAG (Women's All Rounder's Games). Douglas was one of the first women to represent the USA in the event. Also making history is the inclusion of such a high calibre of athletes in a women's weightlifting event. Douglas will be accompanied at the world championships by all-round Olympian Kaliesa Spencer, another member of the team. Method
