What's New in the Adobe Photoshop EXpress?

Apple's revenue drops in Q3 2014 Tim Cook, chief executive officer, Apple Inc. Apple Inc. surprised investors with its first quarterly profit decline as it missed revenue forecasts and said it expects a weak holiday shopping season. Tim Cook, Apple's chief executive officer, said sales in the third quarter were hurt by supply constraints, weakness in Europe and a bad economy in China. Apple's revenue fell 7% from a year earlier to $35.5 billion. Cook said Apple has factored in the economic slowdown in China, which it calls the world's fastest-growing market. The stock, which has slumped about 12% this year, fell 3% to $596.01 at the close in New York. We reported disappointing results today. We are a little concerned about the holiday season because it may not be as robust as we had hoped," Cook said. Cook's comments came after the close of the market. Apple's chief financial officer, Peter Oppenheimer, said Apple is "prepared for the holiday season" despite an expected sell-out of iPhone 5s, the company's most popular model. The supplier cut the number of iPhones it would make in September, another sign of the strains that Apple is facing. The drop has put pressure on its suppliers and retailers in the supply chain as Apple uses more and more of its own manufacturing. For the September quarter, Apple has said it would be making around 38 million iPhones. But the total number, which excludes the Chinese New Year quarter, could be down to about 30 million, according to analysts surveyed by FactSet. The iPhone 5, which launched in September, has been Apple's biggest selling model ever. A sharp drop in sales of older models such as the iPhone 4S and the iPhone 4 could hurt Apple's performance in the current quarter. A huge sell-out of the iPhone 5s is also likely to make the transition to iPhone 6, due next year, more difficult. Cook said Apple is "making a lot of noise" about iPhone 6. The iPhone 5s has been Apple's bestselling smartphone. "The iPhone 6... I think is going to be a good phone. We are very excited about it," Cook said. After years of losses, Apple has turned its focus on services such as the App Store, which generates revenue from subscriptions. More than two-thirds of Apple's revenue now comes from its App Store and other services.
